Philadelphia's Educational Justice Coalition and GLBTQ Online High School to use $20,000 donation to serve Philly LGBT youth!

Educational Justice Coalition (EJC) and GLBTQ Online High School have joined forces to serve Philadelphia's LGBT youth. Both organizations are committed to providing safe and supportive environments for young people who are gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender or questioning their sexuality or gender. Together, they can provide a world-class education along with all the support services that these Philadelphia youth may need.

Quincy Greene, President and CEO of Educational Justice Coalition, said, "We've now found an educational partner that can provide the education our kids deserve! Their mission and ours fit together perfectly, and we look forward to working with GLBTQ Online High School to serve Philadelphia kids." Dave Glick, Executive Director of GLBTQ Online High School, added "A partner like EJC on the ground with the students will help personalize our education system even further. We're thrilled to have a partner in Philadelphia to help us serve the students there."

Under the terms of the agreement, EJC will provide supervision, a safe location, computer access, and local support services. GLBTQ Online High School will provide teachers, instructional materials, and the software tools to conduct academic and social activities. An anonymous donor has committed to providing $20,000 to fund computers and staffing at EJC and tuition for GLBTQ Online High School. The organizations are seeking additional donors in order to be able to serve a larger number of students.

About Educational Justice Coalition

Educational Justice Coalition ® (EJC) seeks to create a safe academic environment for LGBT youth in Philadelphia. At EJC, we value diversity! Our youth represent a diverse group of individuals from different cultural, racial backgrounds as well as different gender expressions and sexual orientations.

Our programming seeks to improve our students' cultural awareness and tolerance of their individual differences. We seek to connect youth to high quality educational, medical and social services that support their overall academic, mental and physical well being. Participation in our programming is voluntary and free to all youth, regardless of race, gender, sexual orientation, religion or physical abilities.

About GLBTQ Online High School

GLBTQ Online High School is the world's first online high school created especially for students who are gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender or questioning their sexuality or gender. It is a private school based near St. Paul, Minnesota and opens in January 2010 to serve students nationwide and from around the world.
